

Ancestors, mainly from the Warsaw side. Almost all this information has been found by Sophia Lazebnik.

The Warsaw family is from Kaluszyń. Kaluszyń is about 60 km east of Warsaw and 23 km from Stanisławów. It is/was much larger than Stanisławów. It was a predominantly Jewish town. In 1897, just after Bubbie was born, it had a population of 6,419 of whom 76% were Jewish. Yad vaShem lists 13 people from Kaluszyń with the family name of Warsaw that perished in the Holocaust. The Pinkusowicz family is from Stanisławów. This was a much smaller town. It is northwest of Kaluszyń, about 40 km east of Warsaw. Stanisławów had an estimated Jewish population of 601 in 1897, and 400 in 1939, most of whom perished in the Holocaust. This Stanisławów is in the area of Minsk-Mazowiecki. (It is not to be confused with the much larger Stanisławów in Galicia that is now in the Ukraine and is called Ivano-Frankivsk.)

Dates for the people from Kaluszyń (Warsaws) are fairly accurate. Dates from those from Stanisławów (Pinkusowicz) may be inaccurate. Parents often registered many of their children together, a few years after birth. The same for marriages and births. Exact dates may be further off because this area was in the Russian empire up until WWI that used the Julian or Old Style Russian calendar which was 12 day behind the Gregorian calendar that is used today.

Etta Balbierski's parents were Zelman Balbierski and Malka nee Feeler 1820 - 1878. Malka Feeler's parents were Pertez and Gitla Feeler.
